The Question of a Constitution-M. Gambetta's Denial of the Power of the Assembly-Ducal Advocacy of the Monarchy-Corporate Balancing of the Principle of Charity.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

PARIS, Feb. 28, 1873. The National Assembly, in session at Versailles to-day, resumed the debate on the report of the committee of Thirty.

M. Gambetta made a powerful speech against the bill recommended by the committee. He denied the right of the Assembly to assume constituent powers and demanded its dissolution. He concluded as follows :- "We have always supported the present Executive, but this support now requires a sacrifice of principle; and when you ask us to make such a sacrifice we say, No!"

M. Gambetta was repeatedly cheered by the Left.

The Duke de Broglie replied at great length. He thought the direct solution of the question was a monarchy. The Republic only led to discord. But the Assembly should confine itself to the great national interests, which needed all its attention He appealed to the conservative majority to stand firm and united for the country's good, but at the same time keep alive the spirit of conciliation. Prolonged cheering from the Centre followed Duke de Broglie's speech. The debate was adjourned until to-morrow, and the sitting closed. CORPORATE BALANCING OF THE PRINCIPLE CHARITY.

The municipality of Paris has refused $61,000 left to the city by the will of one Schuler, on the con. dition that the sum be devoted to the building of a German hospital and to other purposes for the benefit of the German poor of Paris. The bequest of $1,000 by the same testator for the Protestant Consistory was accepted.

The all-absorbing topic to-day is the passage of the Frelinghuysen bill by the United States Senate.

Leading Mormons express themselves satisfied with the bill as amended-their legal advisers ap prove it as being the best that could be hoped for;

that it is better to have this bill now than a more stringent one at the next Congress. The Herald is much pleased with the provision for appeals to the Supreme Court, and says the bill is not the kind

TILLECTAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALS.

HAVANA, Feb. 27, 1873. The Tribuno, in an editorial, says it has received trustworthy correspondence from Puerto Principe stating that Ignacio Agramonte has sent proclama tions peaceable in tone to the Spanish encamp-ments, headed, "Hurrah for the Spanish Republic!" and promising on behalf of the hostile insurgents to lay down their arms, and on "their bended knees embrace the immaculate flag now entwining the nation and shettering all honorable men and opinions."

The other journals and the government are silent on the subject, and the Tribuno's report is gener-ally considered a canard. The editors of the Tribuno assert that rumors current relative to their loyalty were spread by their oppenents, and state that they (the editors of the Tribuno) are native Spaniards.

The Constancia, in reply, says that being born in Spain is not a sufficient guarantee of loyaity. All the Havana journals are beginning to quarrel.

As to the spirit and object of those resolutions, he might say that very little could be done single-handed. So har as the public expenditure of this city was concerned, it had as-sumed so formidable a character that it was fear-ful to contemplate. The possession of power he discharge the responsibility that might be placed in his hands for the benefit of the people. He was not a partisan in this respect; whether he was to discharge the responsibility dates not concern him. So long as either party responded to the idea of an economical government and decreased taxa-tion they should have his sympathy and support. Unless the bill to reduce taxation, before the Legislature, suggested by the Comptroller, became law, the taxation of this city would ce unpleasantly large. The effect of this bill would be to reduce taxation nearly one per cent by postponing for a certain period the payment of claims which the State and imposed upon the city in the shape of taxes to restore to the sinking fund that por-tion which had been improperly appropri-ated. The Legislature had been called upon to authorize by constitutional amendment, which could be secured at the next election, an issue of stock by the State, which, with its present powers, could not be done. In the meantime the bouds required by the city would be issued to meet the demands of the State in that respect, to be relinstated by an equal amount of the bonds of the State when the constitutional authority to issue them should be authorized by the people. Whether the bill would be passed or not, or what shape it would take he did not know; it had reached a third reading; but this he did know—it ought to pass. Arrangements could then be made to postpone certain payments, which would, of course, relieve the taxation of this year. These things were, however, of very little consewould, of course, relieve the taxation of this year. These things were, however, of very little conse-quence compared to the question of the charter, as to which the Mayor said he had already expressed his views. The charter had usecome law before the Legislature, and unless modified in many essential particulars the work of reform of the last two years would, to a certain degree, he entirely saorified. In conclusion the Mayor said he would do all that was possible to help the taxpayers and to promote the good of the people. The deputation then withdrew.

By erder of Colonel DAVID B. AUSTEN, HENRY HASLER, First Licutenant and Adjutant.

By order of Colonel DAVID E. AUSER. Hiskny Haszus, First Lieutenant and Adjutant. Last evening the commissioned officers of the seventy-ninth regiment held an election at their armory, in Twenty-tuird street, for a major, result-ing in the choice of Capital Joseph Lang, of Com-pany G. The election, however, was most singu-larly conducted, the great man at the head of the regiment, who, by virtue of his epaulets, canvased the votes, dispensing entirely with the usual ser-vice of tellers and having things entirely his own way. This absolute despotism was protested against by one of the officers, but he was informed that he could appeal to the general of the brigade. He most probably will do So, and certain matters may then, perhaps, be ventilated which will give a faint ides of the degeneration in chivairy and manners of our precious national guard.

THE CHICKAMAUGA.

The Spanish Gunboat in New York-Arrival of Her Crew Yesterday from Havana-The Pernyian Minister's Pro test.

The ex-Confederate privateer Chickamauga, now lying at the Delamater ship-building yard, at Fourteenth street, North River, will probably leave this port within two or three weeks for Havana, where she is to join the Mosquito fleet of Spanish she is to join the Mosquito fleet of Spanish gunboats, patrolling the island in quest of Cuban expeditions. Yesterday several offi-cers and men from the Spanish iron-clas Saragossa, now lying at Havans, arrived in this city to take the Chickamauga to Cuba. On her voy-age out she is to be commanied by Captain Curtis, late of the Atlantic Mail Steanship Company. Her forecastle has been strengthened for the placing of a hundred-pound Parroit gun. It is reported that representations have been made by the Peru-vian Minister to Socretary Fish, protesting against the departure of this armed veasel from this port, as Spain and Peru are still at war.
