

SPAIN.

General Contreras "On to Madrid!" and Its Consequences.

BILBAO BESIEGED BY THE CARLISTS.

Parliamentary Action and Political Party Reconciliation.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

MADRID, August 12, 1873. Contreras left Cartagena on Monday with 400 adherents, and made a bold effort to march to Madrid, hoping to find sympathy and fresh accessions on the way; but his band was met and dispersed by the national troops.

His capture, however, is probable, as cavalry are on his track. The latest advices report Contreras, with a few followers, has succeeded in re-entering Cartagena, which is now his last refuge.

Bilbao Besieged by the Carlists.

BAYONNE, August 12, 1873. The Carlists have laid siege to Bilbao.

A HEROISM IN THE FIELD AND UNUSUAL JOY IN THE CAMP.

The wife of Don Carlos has joined her husband and will share his fortunes in the field. The Carlist troops are wildly enthusiastic over the event.

Parliamentary Privilege Against Ministerial Prosecution—Political Cause in the Capital.

MADRID, August 12, 1873.

In the Cortes yesterday a resolution authorizing legal proceedings against nine members of that body implicated in recent insurrectionary movements was adopted. The minority remains obstinate, and threatens to resign unless a general amnesty be granted to the republican insurgents.

It is reported that a reconciliation has been effected between Martos and Sagasta, and a coalition of their political supporters will specify follow.

An Austrian Squadron Ordered to the Coast.

VIENNA, August 12, 1873.

A squadron of Austrian war vessels has been ordered to the coast of Spain.

FRANCE.

Radicalism and Good Order in a Death Struggle—M. Rochefort's Conviction and Exile.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

PARIS, August 12, 1873.

The Duke de Broglie went to Lyons to-day. He made a speech this evening, in which he declared that radicalism and society are engaged in a "death struggle."

REUNION OF AMBASSY TO M. ROCHEFORT.

Victor Hugo recently addressed an eloquent letter to the Duke de Broglie, in which he urged the release of Henri Rochefort on account of his literary eminence.

The Duke has replied, declining to interfere with the course of justice, and remarking that "the intellectual ability of the offender only serves to increase his responsibility."

ENGLAND.

Judicial Appointment Under the Cabinet Re-arrangement Movement.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, August 12, 1873.

Upon the declaration of the office of Master of the Rolls by Sir John Duke Coleridge it was offered to Sir George Jessel, who has concluded to accept the position.

IRELAND.

Violent and Fatal Riot Among Militiamen in Camp.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

DUBLIN, August 12, 1873.

A desperate riot occurred yesterday in a military camp on the Curragh of Kildare between two Irish militia regiments.

Several of the participants were killed and many received injuries.

PROFESSION OF LOYALTY—PLACE FROM PARLIAMENT.

Dr. Isaac Bull, member of Parliament for Limerick, in a public address delivered here to-night denied that he had ever demanded the repeal of the Union.

Daniel O'Donoghue, member of Parliament for Tralee, has been appointed Governor of Ceylon.

SWEDEN.

Disastrous Fire and a Town Destroyed.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, August 12, 1873.

The town of Christianopole, on Katmar Sound, Sweden, has been entirely destroyed by fire.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Prosecution of Recusant Prelates in Brazil—Insurrection in Paraguay—War in the Argentine Territory.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LISBON, August 12, 1873.

The steamship Doyle arrived here this morning from Rio Janeiro, bringing dates to the 23d of July.

The government of Brazil has determined to prosecute the Bishop of Pernambuco for refusing to obey its orders.

During a debate in the lower house of the Legislative Assembly upon the course of the Bishop, the President of the Council declared that the government would force him to comply with its demands.

INSURRECTION AND WAR.

The insurgents in Paraguay made an attack upon Anaco, but were repulsed and driven off. Caballero and a number of other insurgent chiefs are reported to have left the country.

The revolution in the Argentine province of Entre Rios continued.

CUBA.

Insurrectionist Assault on a Spanish Mercantile Train—Loyalist Victory—Fighting in the Provinces.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HAVANA, August 12, 1873.

While a Spanish column was escorting several wagons, loaded with provisions, to Guabal de Socarras, it was attacked by a party of insurrectionists in ambush.

After a brief engagement the insurgents were repulsed. Several small engagements have taken place lately between the Spaniards and the insurrectionists at Surinaga, Caibabo and Yaguajay.

Massachusetts Republicans Divided Between Teetotal Washburn and Little Fen.

The Central Committee Decide to Hold the State Convention at Worcester September 17.

MARYLAND DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

A Platform Denouncing Centralization and Federal Abuse of Power.

THE MAINE DEMOCRACY.

Fierce Thrusts at Judicial Partiality and the Salary Grab.

"God-Made" Congressmen and Universal Free Trade.

Titcomb, of Kennebunk, Nominated for Governor.

Portland Filled with the Straight-tongued—Titcomb Nominated by the Convention for Governor—A Powerful Platform—No Surrender—No Unholy Alliance—Admission of Criminals—Salary Grabbers and Criminals—Free Trade and Free Institutions.

PORTLAND, August 12, 1873.

A strong gathering of the democratic leaders of the State of Maine made the monetary capital assembly quite a lively assemblage to-day. Not that the regularly appointed delegates made such an army as to create fears of a famine—they were not more than 150 strong—but the outsiders, the men of all work and the cosmopolitan crowd usually found in the wake of a convention, made quite a respectable show. According to the call the Democratic Convention was to be called to order at ten o'clock; but little matters, preliminaries, had to be completed, and consequently it was eleven before the general assembly was opened.

The State Democratic Convention met last night, and the programme of the leaders did not appear to be understood, as a nomination for the chief office by the Convention was considered doubtful. C. P. Kimball was named the presiding officer, and Titcomb, of Kennebunk, was considered the strongest man to put forward for executive honors, but anything like unanimity of sentiment appeared out of the question. However, Alles gut, Ende gut, and the feeling at the opening this morning seemed better, and when Mr. S. B. Leavitt called the meeting to order it was evident that business would be received and despatched without much ado. At the suggestion of Leavitt General F. S. Nickerson, from Searsport, was called to the chair, who, when called upon for a speech, declared that he had, at that early stage of the proceedings, neither advice nor suggestions to offer, and therefore asked to be excused.

George O. Goswold, of Portland, William H. Simpson and Marcus Watson, of Biddeford, were appointed to act as secretaries.

The Chairman of the Committee on Credentials reported 508 delegates present.

On motion of Mr. JOHN RAWSON, of Bangor, a recess of half an hour was taken for the delegates to select members of the State Committee and the Committee of Resolutions, vice presidents, &c.

On reassembling William H. Simpson declined serving as Secretary. The county delegates then reported the names to complete their organization, and after preliminary business the Convention adjourned till two o'clock.

The afternoon session of the Convention was called to order at half-past two o'clock.

While awaiting the report of the Committee on Resolutions Mrs. Jane Thurston, the crazy woman who claims proprietorship of the State, endeavored to have read a paper which she presented, and a committee of five was appointed to receive, sort and count votes for candidates. On the first ballot the vote of the Convention was as follows: Joseph Titcomb, of Kennebunk, received 131; Artemus Lobb, of Augusta, 106; Frederic A. Pike, of Calais, 29; James C. Madigan, of Houlton, 10; J. Albert, of Andover, 10; and Ferguson, of Bangor, 10.

A letter was read from Mr. Madigan declining, even should he receive every vote.

On the second ballot Mr. Titcomb was nominated. While the ballot was in progress F. O. J. Smith, from the Committee on Resolutions, asked that the ballot be suspended for a few minutes, so that resolutions, which were adopted as follows:—

Resolved, That the democratic party shall revive its ideal issues, but stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor of a strict construction of the federal constitution. It resists all attempts of one department to encroach upon the rights of another, and of one branch of the legislative department to encroach upon the rights of the Executive or Judiciary.

Resolved, That the democratic party shall stand by its principles, which are suited to all times and circumstances; support the federal government in its efforts to maintain the Union, and to preserve the rights and not of interests. It supports the federal government and its constitutional authority and defends the reserved rights of the States and people. It is in favor of a centralization that would impair or destroy their rights, and in favor