The following special despatch to the HERALD has been received from our correspondent at the headquarters of Don Carlos' army in Spain: -

ROYAL HEADQUARTERS, ZUBIAR, Northeast of Pampeluna, August 13, 1873.

We are marching, with Generals Elio and Dorregaray and five thousand soldiers, toward Arragon, with the view to raise the population of that province in arms for the Carlist cause. and thus to enable the people to operate conjointly with the men of Catalonia and Navarre in the monarchical movement.

PAMPELUNA IN SIGHT, WITH SPOILS AND FIELD PROFITS BY THE WAY.

Yesterday was passed within sight of Pampeluna.

No attempt was made to molest us.

Three hours after the day had closed the Carlist troops took possession of Fort Bourguette, which had been abandoned by the Spanish government garrison. They there seized a quantity of cartridges and other material of war, as they have done at other forts which they have captured just lately, including those of Elizonda and San Estevan. BOYALIST RETALIATION.

The fortifications of the fallen posts have been razed in every instance where the surrounding population was known to be favorable in sentiment to the republicans, and a heavy taxation was levied on and collected from the more radical sympathizers Madrid, August 15, 1873. It is reported that the crew of the British yacht Deerhound, seized by a Spanish manof-war for landing arms for the Carlists, will be tried on the charge of piracy.

Naval Concentration on the Coast. Madrid, August 15, 1873.

Five British, three Italian, and an American man-of-war were lying in Escombrera Bay on Thursday.

Three insurgent vessels arrived outside, when Fort Galeras fired on them. A few. shots were exchanged without apparent effect.

It is believed that the ironclads Almansa and Vittoria will be held by the Germans until an organized government exists, to which they can be returned.

The Prince Imperial spoke the reply in the following words: - "I thank you, in the name of the Empress and my own, for having joined your prayers with ours and for having borne in your mind the way which we piously travelled a few months ago. I thank also our faithful friends from afar for numerous testimonials of affection and devotion which we have received. As for myself, in exile near the tomb of the Emperor, I meditate upon the precept which he left for my guidance. I find my patrimony in the principle of national sovereignty and the flag that consecrates it. That principle has been expressed by the founder of our dynasty in words to which I shall ever remain faithful-"All for the people and by the people." The Prince was loudly cheered by the delegation and complimented personally by each member of the body.

Sr. Louis, Mo., August 15, 1873. Advices from the Pawnee reservation, in Nebraska, say the Pawnees are preparing for war with the Sioux, in retaliation for the attack on them some days ago. They are said to have about six hundred warriors among themselves, and have invited the Otoes, Omahas, Yanktons and Porcas to join them, nearly sil of whom have accepted the invitation, and at last accounts the braves of these tribes were either at or on the way to the Pawnee reservation. The Pawnees expect to muster 1,600 warriors, and propose to prosecute a reientless war against the Sioux.

room, and advanced towards Manning, exclaiming, "Damn you, I will kill you." The Deputy drew a revolver, and ordered the man to leave the room, at the same time threatening to shoot him if he did not obey.

Simpson centinued to advance, springing from side to side to avoid the pistol, when Mr. St. John seized a chair and struck him, which, however, failed to prevent his advance. Recovering from the blow the prisoner rushed at the Deputy, who fired ane followed the first shot with two others. Mustering his failing strength the prisoner threw the axe with all his force, narrowly missing the Deputy's head, and then fell. As he iell the Deputy fired a fourth shot. The second shot was fatal, as was afterwards ascertained. No motive for the act is known, except that the prisoner had once escaped and had an idea that the Deputy had something to do with his recapture.

A Coroner's jury exonerated Manning.

The Names of Sixty-one Custom House Officials Sent to Washington To Be "Investigated."

Dismay, Consternation and Terror Pervading 1,500 Custom House Employes.

It was a great day of suspense yesterday, succeed ing the outburst caused by the Herald of the day previous in regard to the Custom House alleged frauds. Nearly all the various officials connected with the department paid their respects to the granite building at an early hour to ascertain if they were among the lists of the condemned. But no satisfactory information could be obtained by them, for the supreme officials had shut themselves up like oysters and could not be opened. It was discovered that the Special Agent of the Treasury, Jayne, had left on a sudden vacation. He had with his list of the culprits to Ithaca, N. Y., and had left behind him, to take care of his office, Inspector Priest, a young man with remarkable good looks, who was, like his superior officer, very chary of information.

The HERALD reporter visited General Arthur yesterday morning, and that gentleman very politely denied all statements in regard to the facts related in the Herald. General Sharpe was also spoken to, and he stated that there was no "black list," and if there were he would certainly be aware of it. Brainerd Howell denied all allega-tions made against him, "Son" Bluss and Chief Liquidating Clerk Evans also declared that they had not been accused of any misdemeanor, because if they had been they would have been summoned before the Collector and the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Inspector Whittredge was detailed to the steamship Denmark, at pier 44, and could not be found neither could Inspector Morey, who had been detailed to the White Star line of steamers at Jersey City. Mr. Whittredge had been detailed from the Barge Office at the Battery, where, it is said, the inspectors of customs are coining money, to the National line of steam-ers, where the business is not so good. The plunder that the inspectors reap at the Barge Office is something magnificent, and when a man is sent from there he is disgusted with his lot. COLONEL FRANK E. HOWE MAKES AN ACKNOWL

At 47 Broadway Colonel Frank E. Howe has an office, labelled the "Special Agent United States Treasury." Mr. Jayne, of the Custom House, is also the "Special Agent United States Treasury, and there is considerable rivalry between these of the frauds of Custom House offi-cials had been made by Mr. Jayne. Mr. Howe was at Long Branch and not come to the city owing to the storm, and in the meantime this terrible "accident" occurred to the Custom House employés. Mr. Howe is a society man, Mr. Jayne is a diamond in the rough, who works late hours. A reporter asked Colonel Howe if he had heard of the alleged Custom House frauds.

ands. Colonel Howe—Yes, I have read the Hebald; but Colonel Howe—Yes, I have read the Herald; but I do not wish to say anything about it. You must not interview me, positively. (This was said as a disciple of Casarism should say it.)
REFORTER—But there must be a foundation for the rumor, Colonel Howe. All the Castom House employes agree that there is a list of men who are under charges.

Colonel Howe (in an imperious manner)—Well, well, you must not mention my name, sir; mind, you must not mention my name, it is true that there are two or three men implicated, but no such number as has been reported.

REFORTER—Will you give me the names of those three men who are implicated?

REPORTER—Will you give me the names of those three men who are implicated?

Colonel Howz—No, sir; I have said too much already, and you must not give my name to your people—you must not give my name to your people—you must not give my name to your people—you must not give my name to your people, sir! (Here the gallant Massachusetts State Agent, who had fought in 123 battles during the Waf, waved his hand and broke up the interview, like a pro-consul of Cessar.)

The PUN IN THE CUSTOM HOUSE.

The row in the Custom House had caused Mr. Craig, of the law firm of Webster & Craig, to call and see how his clients were to come out of the scrape. Mr. Craig is a handsome, lively, black haired man, and his pattner, Mr. Sidney Webster, is a son-in-law of Hop. Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States. Mr. Craig advised his clients to keep still, and there being various diverse interests separating the federal office-holders in this city, it was not known but that the District Attorney (Bilss) might take it into his head to prosecute the criminals. So there was great coniusion among the culprits, and they were all ready to confess if a chance was given them to beg off.

WHAT WAS SENT TO WASHINGTON.

ready to confess if a chance was given them to beg off.

The "backers" of the different persons implicated in fraud were very much excited yesterday, and a great number of prominent persons in politics and in business visited the Custom House to try and save the bribe takers. There is to be a meeting of the backers of these employes accused on Monday evening at the house of the leading republican politicisn of this city at half-past seven o'clock, to take measures to aver the storm which is now bursting upon their clients. It will be numerously attended, as the men who are accused have great local influence in the primaries and elections, and it would not do to offend them. There will also be held in a few days a meeting of the "Inspectors' Association," at which the bribetaking will be considered effectually. Committees have already gone to Washington to follow up Assistant Secretary Sawyer and Chief Clerk Vanderbilt, who have disappeaned suddenly and very mysteriously.— These men are engineered by the cieverest republican politicians in New York, and as it is known that a disclosure of the frauds, or a punishment of the accused, would smash the party throughout the country, as the Tammany frauds defeated Greeley, no expense or exertion will be spared to make a compromise and shield the guilty.

"WHO ARE ACCUSED?"

Sixty-one names have been sent to Washington by Special Agent Jayne, which have been found on the books of different merchanis, as taking bribes and cheating the United States government. Four of these names designate four of the highest officials in the Custom House as guilty persons. Fitty-one of the names represent persons holding the offices of inspectors, and then there are five or six clerks in the General Appraiser's office who are also implicated. The list of all these people is in the possession of Mr. Vanderbilt, who will not disclose their names until ordered by Mr. Richardson, Secretary of the Treasury.

The "Hinos" in the Custom House. One is called the "Baggage Ring" and the other is known as the "Steamship Ring." In the "Stea

Inspectors profer to be in the "baggage ring," as there is more money to be made in it. Ver olten these gentlemen go down in revenue cutter often these gentlemen go down in revenue cutters and pass baggage on the vessel before she comes to her dock. It is considered a favor to be permitted to belong to this ring. Heavy toll is levied on unprotected passengers, as they are at the mercy of the inspectors who examine baggage. A lady coming alone from Europe is considered "air game" by these rascals. They have no hesitation in cultary an unprotected woman that every article of clothing in her trunks is dutiable, and she is compelled to pay whatever sum they may demand. If she should dare refuse to pay the sum levied she will be arindiguity of a search.

HILARIOUS POETRY.

There is in the Custom House an official poet, who celebrates occasionally in verse the victories gained over Special Agent Jayne. Yesterday he believed that a compromise would be effected, and when Assistant Secretary Sawyer de-church, but at the time of the fire owned and occupied by Mr. J. H. Roberts, dealer in second-hand machinery. The stock was in the lower stories. The loss of Mr. Roberts will amount to $40,600, which, it is supposed, is insured. The two upper stories were occupied by Mr. George A. Sammett, for the storage of excelsior, whose damage will amount to $10,000; insured. The building was entirely destroyed; also one or two small wooden dwellings. CHOLERA IN CHICAGO.
