THE TAMMANY GENERAL COMMITTEE, at its meeting last evening, made fierce comment on the delay in publishing the election returns by expelling Police Commissioner Charlick from the Wigwam.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BUCHU will pay thirty cents on the dollar to its creditors tomorrow. The earnest efforts of the friends of the bank are directed towards preventing a full exposure of the secrets of the institution through bankruptcy proceedings.

THAT EIGHTH JURY.—The eighth jury has come to some grief, and may come to more. Judge Davis has imprisoned him for thirty days and imposed a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars upon him.

The French Nation and Republican Government—America's Word of Sympathy.

To the people of the United States the present contest in France must have a deep interest. The republican form of government, under which this country has grown and prospered, may have its weak points here and there, but as a government of the people by the people it has held out a glorious banner of hope to the oppressed millions of other nations less favored.

The French nation and Republican Government—America's Word of Sympathy. Like all excesses, it defeated itself, and for half a century after the Republic was once well strangled the suggestion of its reappearance in France frightened old women and children everywhere.

The message of President MacMahon has a soldierly pointedness, and leaves neither his opinions nor his desires in doubt. It is evident that, in common with other monarchists, the unexpected unmanageableness of the Comte de Chambord has soured the hopes of MacMahon for a time at least.

The point taken on the message by M. Dufaure was a good one. He argued, and with good reason, that "the message of the Executive expressed the general desire for the adoption of a definite government, but yet advised the continuance of the present precarious régime."

THE CONNOLLY INDICTMENTS.—Just as the Tweed trial is brought on the motion to quash the indictments found against ex-Comptroller Richard B. Connolly is made before Judge Sutherland. How are we to account for this coincidence?

until the Election bill is passed, which will practically disfranchise immense numbers of those certain to vote the republican ticket. It is a question which will severely test the cohesive powers of the majority. Behind a throne they might vote anything; but with the possibility of again going before the people under a nominal republic, the waverers would hesitate to register themselves so distinctly against trusting the people.

The Financial Pressure—Proposed Schemes and Measures of Relief. By our Chamber of Commerce yesterday resolutions were adopted expressing the conviction that time offers the only solution of existing difficulties; that the Chamber retains its confidence in our national banking system; that it is the duty of the banks and the government to resume specie payments.

Chambers of commerce, banks, merchants, manufacturers, farmers, and, in short, all the producing and business interests of the country, are now looking to Congress not only for a deliverance, but for a speedy deliverance, from our existing difficulties. We have heard of various schemes of relief which, as the first measures of business in the new Congress, will be proposed in the House of Representatives immediately after the reading of the President's Message.

In truth, too, our present financial embarrassments, looking at the country at large and at its general substantial prosperity and resources, are to a great extent imaginary. From an inquiry into the condition of the great manufacturing firm of the Spragues, for example, it appears that "they have a surplus over their just debts of at least eight millions of property, and they confidently believe that if an extension of a reasonable length is granted to them they can pay in full all their liabilities and preserve their print works and a considerable portion of their mill property."

A LAKE ONTARIO DISASTER.—A sad disaster occurred to one of the Canadian steamers of the Royal Mail line between Toronto and Montreal on Wednesday night. When opposite Oshawa, on Lake Ontario, about thirty-five miles from Toronto, the steamer Bavarian was found to be on fire.

THE MISSING STEAMSHIP. The missing steamship Ismailia, of the Anchor line, about which much uneasiness has been felt, is still overdue at her transatlantic port. She left New York for Glasgow on Saturday, the 27th of September, and is, therefore, already, allowing a fortnight (a long allowance) for her voyage, more than three weeks behind time.

The Case of the Ship Virginias.

The capture of an American vessel by a Spanish man-of-war is an unpleasant incident, and the report that the persons found on board are to be dealt with as pirates does not improve its character. We are yet without an accurate record of the facts of the capture of the Virginias, and when the whole story comes it may materially change the aspect of the case; but as it appears now we cannot see that there has been any act of piracy or any offence whatever making the ship amenable to the Spanish law; and if there shall prove to be no other offence than what appears as the story is now known the execution as a pirate or otherwise of any person on board will be simply one more murder chargeable to the cutthroats who rule in Cuba.

There is no doubt that the Virginias was beyond the Spanish jurisdiction at the time of her capture. Indeed, it is probable that she was in British waters, as she is said to have been "near the coast of Jamaica," and if she was in British waters this will additionally complicate the case; but whether there or not, she was certainly not in Cuban waters, and her capture, and whatever may be subsequently done with her and with the persons on board, must be justified under international law. Now the international relations of Spain and the United States are those of perfect peace, and there is no legal reason why an American ship should be interfered with on her voyage to the West Indies, except for the proper inspection of her papers by the revenue authorities.

THE EXECUTION OF WADE AT WILLIAMSBURG, Pa., yesterday furnishes a story replete with the deepest interest. The culprit, a powerfully built, unscrupulous, heartless man, who has lived under fifty different aliases, was brought to the scaffold for the murder of an aged couple, from beneath whose roof he took about seventy thousand dollars, part of a hoard accumulated by the old people after years of labor and economy, but whose distrust of mankind induced them to personally guard their wealth.

THE ELECTION COUNT.—Some grave charges are made of fraudulent counting or criminal tampering with the returns in some of the Assembly districts. The suspicious delay in the announcement of the results—a delay for which there can be no justification or excuse—gives coloring to these charges.

THE POLICE JUSTICES' CASE.—The Counter injunction case, which involves the question of the constitutionality of the new Police Justice appointments, was argued yesterday in the Court of Common Pleas and will be continued to-day. The counsel for the new Justice endeavor to prevent a decision on the constitutionality of the new law and to

The Winter and the Unemployed—Public as well as Private Measures of Relief.

Reports from all the Eastern States convey the dismal intelligence of factories closing, works suspending, and, as a consequence, thousands of working people of all ages and sexes thrown out of employment. What has taken place in Troy, Philadelphia, Paterson, Newark and Pittsburg is taking place daily in New York, and want among the working class, it is almost certain, will be widespread during the inclement season when it is most felt. It is not a moment too soon to look this fact in the face. In this great Republic no man or woman willing and able to work should want for bread.

We have no desire, however, that the American workingman should be reduced to charity for his bread. Nothing could be more injurious to the morale of the working classes. What we now propose is that all public works—city, State and national—which can give employment to numbers should be carried on as far as a scale as possible. The docks of our city are a disgrace to a commercial community. The building of substantial stone piers is a work which we are rich enough to pay for, in spite of the panic.

THE WEATHER REPORT. WAR DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7—1 A. M. PROBABLES. FOR THE MIDDLE STATES, SLOWLY RISING TEMPERATURE, NORTHEASTERLY AND EASTERLY WINDS, INCREASING CLOUDINESS AND OCCASIONAL RAIN IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND.

reach the dissolution of the injunction on side issues, without the consideration of that point. The policy of driving off a legal solution of the constitutional question is of doubtful expediency. It is of the utmost importance that a final decision should be reached at the very earliest moment, both to avoid expense and to avert the possible calamity of a failure of justice.

SEIZES THEM RIGHT.—The brother of the republican candidate for Sheriff of Albany county, in the recent election, it is alleged, attempted to bribe one of the inspectors to commit a fraud on the ballot box. He and an accomplice have been locked up to await the action of the Grand Jury. If guilty they should be severely punished.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Judge C. E. Flannery, of Minnesota, is staying at the Everett Hotel. Judge W. S. Lincoln, of Washington, is registered at the Grand Central Hotel. Congressman John A. Kasson, of Iowa, yesterday arrived at the Clarendon Hotel. Ex-Congressman E. E. Woodbridge, of Vermont, is registered at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

THE HERALD AND ITS CABLE SHIP NEWS.

The New York Herald has added to its other feats of enterprise the obtaining by cable telegram a very full and complete list of the arrivals and departures of shipping at and from European ports to the latest moment previous to the transmission of the despatch. Thus, the Herald of the 27th, among others of the British bark Armin, at Bremen from New York; ship Sunbeam, at Liverpool from Darien, and Lizie Fennell, from Pensacola; bark Constantia, from New York at Falmouth; and sailed from Leghorn, bark Jennie and Albert, for Philadelphia.
