COMMENTS ON THE/CUBAN AGENCY.

The Real Leaders of the Patriots in This Country.

THAT A/BSENT CONSUL.

Many of the disasters that have overtaken the cause fare attributed by thoughful persons inted, with Cuban affairs to internal dissenand to want of co-operation among the ots inf this city. Those who sympathize with heir struggie for independence will therefore e gratified to know that there has been - decided improvement in that direct on. IV is, however, said by prominent Cubans in is city that there exists one stumbling block to t harmony, and that is, the decided unpopuits among his countrymen of the principal agent "epresents the Cuban Republic in this country.

a, order to optain a fair, dispassionate view of scenes of the Virginius and of Cuban affairs in Meral, the writer called yesterday on a ban gentleman who was the leader of the evolution from its inception, having been concled with the movement since 1848. He was for eral years the representative of the Cuban Republic in Europe, a mission which he filled with knowledged ability. The gentleman in question desired that his name should not be published in connection with the following interview. After writer had stated the object of his visit he

"I feel very reluctant to express any opinion on the subject of Cuban affairs at the present time. So much has been said about the capture of the Virws, and that I really do not wish to add my mite. Indeed, were you not a representative of the HERALD I uld, without hesitation, decline to say anything out the matter. But we are under such great igations to that journal that, as a Cuban, I in gratitude bound to comply with your re-

"With regard to the Virginius, is would be pre-sumption on my part to say what the United States rovernment ought to do or ought to leave undone, the more so because all the facts of the case have not yet come to our knowledge. The American government knows, or at least ought to know, what it owes to its flag and to the protection of its citizens. I am therefore sorry to say that the fetter of the Cuban agent in this city to the President of the United States was as fil-ad-vised as it was uncalled-for. He, as the Cuban representative, had no business to ask the Presi-dent to interfere, certainly not in the terms in which the letter was couched. The facts officially known were, that a vessel flying the American dapareter. Tight by a Spanish war steamer, and that four of the cuban agent in this city to the merican citizens, had been captured without apparent right by a Spanish war steamer, and that four of the cubines no board had been executed. It was not for the Cuban agent in this city to vin-dicate, in writing to the United States govern-ment,

Letters from prominent friends of the cause were presented, all inciting their sympa-thizors to carnest action. Beveral Americans who had served in the late war tendered their services under as injunction of secrety. It was resolved to send a committee of three to the Ouban headquar-ters in New York to make a tender of the offers re-ceived at the meetings, and the committee started to-night.

AMERICAN PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION.

The Meeting in the Hall of the Union League Club Yesterday-The Papers Read by Prominent Representatives of Sanitary Commissions. The American Public Health Association met yesterday noon at the Union League Club Hall The association is composed of representatives of sanitary commissions from various parts of the Union and others interested in the subject of hygiene. There was no quorum, only nineteen delegates being present.

Mr. Stephen Smith, M. D., the President, delivered the opening address of welcome, and read an interesting paper showing the beneficial effects of the study of hygiene. Dr. Ranch, of Chicago, the Treasurer, read his report, which showed that there was a balance of $150 in the treasury. * Mr. James W. Beekman contrasted, in an able paper, the hospitals of Europe with those of this country.

Dr. Billings, Assistant Surgeon of the United States Army, read a paper on libraries and their influence on public health. The association then took a recess till half-past

At half-past two o'clock the association resumed its session. There was a somewhat larger audience.

DR. NATHAN ALLEN, OF LOWELL, MASS., gave his views on the "Perfection of Structure and Function in the Human Body as a Leading Element of Hygiene." One of the great requisites of long life was to come from a healthy, long-lived stock. The temperaments must be well blended, and there must be harmony and balance between all the organs. A moderate climate was decidedly favorable to longevity, and so were a cheerful disposition and a well trained mind. The greatest longevity was found among the most civilized nations. Harmonious action of the body and mind-this was the first principle of longevity. Dr. Allen alluded to the treatise of an eminent author, who claimed that 100 years was the proper age which every man ought to attain, and if dead before this age it was owing to his excesses, his follies and similar causes.

Dr. Edward Jarvis, of Dorchester, Mass., submitted a long report upon the "Power of the Housekeeper over and Responsibility for the Health of the Family." The law of the stomach

Housekeeper over and Responsibility for the Heaith of the Family." The law of the stomach was the law of the man. As was his nourishment so was his power, and not only the power of his body but also that of his mind. The stomach was generally sound and did its work without any difficulty, but if the food was ill prepared it could not easily be digested. If people WERK TROUGLED WITH HEADACHES, and felt disinclined to attend to business; if they were nervous and their energies seemed to be overborne, it was often owing to the heavy fax which they had laid upon their digestive organs-tiley or their nousekeepers who prepared the food for them. A man's dinners made him buoyant or depressed, and the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was in a great measure the science of a kitchen was. In a gower jor checking men's energies that it was certainly worth studying with the greatest atten-tion. It would be a great bleasing if some sound book were written, not about elaborate dishes, out about thoroughly healthrui cookery. To their housekeeper they owed to a great extent their pleasures and sorrows. Woman was not a cook by nature any more than a man a shoemaker or a lawyer by nature, and to be agood cook if was necessary to study the art of cooking. After the reading of this paper many of the spectators left the hall. Dr. James E. Reeves, of HIS ANCESTORS. Here the reporter remarked that in an interview published in the HERALD General Quesada had stated that "the capture of the Virrinius would be the means of uniting in his support all the Cuban exiles in this city." To which the reply was— "I do not see any reason why the capture of the Virginius should induce the Cubans to give their confidence to a man whom they have hitherto con-sidered inqualified for the position he occupies. And here let me tell you that the only organization which has brought about harmonious action is the Society of Amigos de Cuba, composed of nearly all the prominent Cubans in this country, and acting under the direction of its appointed committee, who are on the iriendliest relations with the Cuban League of the United States, both societies acting in conformity with the spirit as well as the letter of the constitution."

The United States Consul of Santiago de Cubs.

In consequence of the late execution of the American citizen Ryan, among others, in Santiago de Caba, a good deal of public interest has been called to the fact that the United States Consul there, Alfred N. Young, was absent from his post at the time when this ismentable affair happened. Yesterday a HERALD reporter had an interview with Mr. Young, before that gentleman left the Astor House to go on board the British bark Even-ing Star, in which he has shipped, with his family,

In response to inquiries Mr. Young stated that he left Cuba on leave of absence, which was exnded until October 15. The only vessel that he could have shipped directly for his post in the interval was the Evening Star, which should have hed New York so as to sail on the 8th of Octo-
