

CAVED IN.

The Virginus' Surrender to an American War Ship.

THE PRISONERS TO BE GIVEN UP.

Jovellar Sure His Orders Will Be Obeyed.

TOWED OUT OF HARBOR.

Bahia Honda Made Forever Famous.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HAVANA, Dec. 12, 1873. The Virginus has gone to the port of Bahia Honda, 60 miles west of Havana, where she will be delivered by a Spanish man-of-war to a vessel of the United States Navy.

Bahia Honda. Bahia Honda (deep bay) is one of the harbors of Cuba, situated on the north coast of the island, 60 miles west southwest of Havana. It is protected by a fort. The bay has been resorted to by privateering vessels, and is now a place for the landing of slaves.

SURRENDER OF THE VIRGINUS PRISONERS. Captain General Jovellar has given the necessary orders for the transfer of the Virginus prisoners at Santiago de Cuba to an American man-of-war to-day.

THE CAPTAIN GENERAL CONFIDENT THAT HE WILL BE OBEYED.

The Captain General is certain that his orders will be carried out and the men delivered at the appointed time.

The Virginus Towed Out of Harbor in the Early Morning—A Spanish War Ship Acts as Escort.

HAVANA, Dec. 12, 1873. The steamer Virginus was towed out of the harbor of Havana this morning at half-past four o'clock by a tugboat.

GUARDED BY A SPANISH WAR SHIP.

The Spanish war steamer Isabella la Católica acted as escort. At seven o'clock this morning the tugboat returned to the city.

Telegraphic Communication Between Havana and Santiago de Cuba Interrupted—The Steamer Ossipee Ordered to Santiago de Cuba.

KEY WEST, Dec. 12, 1873.

Telegraphic despatches have just been received here from Havana which state that the wires between that city and Santiago de Cuba are interrupted.

THE STEAMER OSSIPEE.

The steamer Ossipee, which has been detained for orders and repairs, will leave tomorrow for Santiago de Cuba.

No Official Confirmation of the Departure of the Virginus from Havana.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12, 1873.

Although there is to-night no official confirmation of the report that the steamship Virginus was towed out of the harbor of Havana this morning it is considered to be reliable in view of the fact that the recent agreement between Secretary Fish and Admiral Polo contemplated her surrender to a vessel of the United States within little more than a week from the time it was made, and this movement is regarded as a preliminary to a fulfillment of the stipulation. The impression is that the surviving passengers and crew of the Virginus will be delivered on the same day.

The Latest Report from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12, 1873.

The Virginus will be delivered to the Captain of the Canandagua in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba, and the prisoners to the commander of the Junista.

CUBA.

Customs Duties Payments—Press Fear of Religious Troubles.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HAVANA, Dec. 12, 1873.

It is officially denied at the Treasury Department that payment of customs duties will be required in gold after January 1, 1874.

FRESH ANTICIPATION OF NEW TROUBLE.

Archbishop Lorente has returned to Santiago.

The Foz de Cuba fears religious troubles will be added to our foreign and internal complications; but the mass of the people manifest little interest in these ecclesiastical disputes.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM. BY WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE. With Illustrations by Alfred Frederick. 1 vol. 4to. Cloth, extra gilt, price $7.50; morocco, extra, $12.

Among the most exquisite of all book engravings of the season is "A Midsummer Night's Dream." In all the publishers can do this work is truly a coup.

The fairy scenes are very beautiful. Bottom's wonderful "translation" is represented in eight or nine graphic and most humorous delineations. The scenes at Athens and in the wood near it are superb pieces of landscape, and the entire work, in its conception and execution, is delicate and at the same time as sumptuous, as is called for by the nature of the subject.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" is one of the beautiful books of the season. Mr. Frederick has performed this part exceptionally well. He has not only contained himself with interpreting the most delicate conceits and subtleties, but he has interpreted them so even the text shines clear for his pencil.

From the Express.

Among the holiday books of the season Messrs. Appleton & Co. have published the above. Nearly every page is illustrated and the book will, undoubtedly, be a favorite Christmas gift with those who appreciate Shakespeare and have a taste for the engravings.

A New Story for Youth.

"MY KALULU."

PRINCE, KING AND SLAVE.

A STORY FROM CENTRAL AFRICA.

By Henry M. Stanley, Author of "How I Found Livingstone." With 16 full page illustrations.

1 vol., 12 mo., $2.

Extract from the Preface.

"This book has been written for boys—not those little darlings who are yet bothering over the alphabet, and have to be taken to bed at sundown, and who when they awake put civilized and respectable families into confusion with their cries; nor those little dunces who look at all books with awe, and who begin to scratch their heads as soon as one is mentioned; nor yet those boys who cannot read, though they are tall and strong; but for those clever, bright-eyed, intelligent boys of all classes, who have begun to be interested in romantic literature, with whom educated fathers may talk without fear of misapprehension."

A Prose Story by the author of "Mrs. Jerningham's Journal."

A VERY YOUNG COUPLE.

1 vol., 12mo. with an illustration, uniform with "Mrs. Jerningham's Journal." Cloth, price $1.50.

This is the first story written by the author of "Mrs. Jerningham's Journal" since that delightful novelette in verse took the public by surprise. "A Very Young Couple," although in prose, is quite as captivating as its predecessor. The marriage, of course, is purely for love, and the vicissitudes through which the "Very Young Couple" pass—their peculiar perplexities, their little tiffs, their more serious entanglements and the way they escaped from them—are rehearsed in a lively, sparkling style, and with a naturalness which appeals directly to the sympathies of all who have passed through similar experiences.

THE GALAXY IS JUST ENTERING ON THE eighth year of its existence. It started to be the foremost literary magazine in the country, and is now carrying more pictorial attractions and strictly local contributions than any other magazine in the country. Its aim has been to present to the public the choicest possible literary bill of fare to its readers. It has aimed to be thoroughly up to the times in the choice of subjects which it has discussed, and in the questions of the day are ably treated in its pages. Its liberal policy and high literary tone have drawn to its contributions from some of the ablest of our statesmen. Many of these contributions are of the greatest importance, and give an inside view of our current history which could not otherwise be obtained. Secretary Welles has given his readers a wide view of our naval operations during the rebellion, and in his late series of papers on Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward has given many exceedingly interesting revelations as to the positions and views of Mr. Lincoln and the leading members of his cabinet, and the great questions which engaged their attention.

In the January number, Judge Black will have an article on his relations with Mr. Seward. Mr. Thurlow Weed has given many interesting chapters from his Autobiography, touching upon the most important events of his life, and his recollections of the great men with whom he has come in contact. In other departments of the "Galaxy," we are just commencing a series of papers on Wall Street, in the way of sketches, travel, and fiction. Mr. Henry Browne, Kate Hillard, Fanny Roger Feudge and others will appear in the "Galaxy" in the form of living female novels, which will commence a new series in the "Galaxy" within a month or two.

Richard Grant White will continue his articles on the Proper Use of Words.

Richard E. Kinsall, whose reputation as an able financier as well as author will give interest to his articles, will contribute a series of papers on Wall Street.
