Prize Politics and a Vigorous Battle Between the Republicans and Conservatives—Opinions of the Volunteers and Laborers.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HAVANA, May 29, 1873.

The quarrel between the republican party, the Trinomio, and the conservative press is approaching a being a little on every thing Spanish, the same as the insurgent journal in New York. The Trinomio lately accused General Portilla, who is in command of the Cinco-Villas district, of being engaged in a cattle speculation at Villa Clara. The volunteers published a protest against this accusation, but Portilla has made no reply to the charge.

The conservatives are doing their utmost to compel the Trinomio to discontinue publication. The Trinomio is apparently unconcerned, and continues to publish peculiar facts connected with the administration, occasionally giving names.

The Trinomio having addressed a number of editorials to the volunteers, several volunteer officers have published a card, saying:—"We deplore praise of the Trinomio, which merits only our contempt."

THE FOX POPPIL. The republicans claim to have numerous adherents among the volunteers. They have certainly received accessions from the laboring classes.

BRITISH PROGRESS IN ASIA.

Preparation for a Special Mission to Chinese Turkistan.

The Rangoon Gazette of the 18th of April furnishes the following report of the progress of British exploration and diplomacy in Asia:—

From a paragraph in the Indian Statesman we learn that the Yarkand Mission (Chinese Turkistan), which is to accompany the Envoy after his return to India, is to consist of six officers—Mr. Forsyth, Colonel Gordon, Captain Trotter, Royal Engineers; Captain Chapman, Royal Artillery; Captain Adolph, Aide-de-camp, and Dr. Cayley. The mission will leave Bombay on the 1st of July, and Yarkand, to Aksu, and some of the party will probably go about three hundred or four hundred miles inland. Our contemporaries believe that no European has yet been beyond Yarkand in the direction of Aksu.

The Yarkand Envoy is making a short stay in Bombay before leaving for Constantinople. He has visited the Exhibition and been shown over one of the naval monitors.

TURK'S ISLANDS.

By mail from the West Indies we have files of Turk's Islands journals dated to May 17.

The Royal Standard supplies the following items of news:—

The imports have declined £375,000. The export on salt having been abolished at the end of February, 1873, cannot, in a revenue point of view, enter into the quarterly comparison; but comparing the quantities of salt exported for the two quarters under consideration—that for March quarter, 1872, being 472,826 bushels, and that for the corresponding quarter in 1873 being, as we have ascertained, only 184,4 bushels, it will be seen that the quantity of our prime export for 20,252 bushels; but, in looking back to former corresponding quarters, we find that the quantity of salt exported that of the like period of the years 1869, 1870, 1871 and 1872.

The expenditure shows a diminution on the account of £231,115, 2d., which has arisen chiefly from the abolition of the grant for public schools, the disavowment of the Episcopal clergy and the cessation of grants to other religious denominations.

His Honor President Campbell left Turk's Islands for Jamaica on Wednesday evening last. A report is current that President Campbell may be summoned to England to give evidence in the Tichborne trial.

IMMENSE RUSH OF BILLS.

ALBANY, May 29, 1873.

The sharp industry of the Senate was continued with renewed zest this morning. Bills were read a third time with remarkable despatch and disposed of. Quite a number of a kind interesting to New Yorkers were defeated. Among these were the bill to reimburse the Ninth regiment for uniforms, which was lost by a vote of 12 to 7; Sheriff Brennan's bill, which provides for the payment of clerks in the Sheriff's office, by 14 to 10, and the now celebrated

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT BILL. It is to this bill that has had such a strange career since it came into existence, that if for no other reason, the Senators felt like being chary of it. It had suffered pretty severely at the hands of the Senate once before, and had been recalled by the House, where it had again suffered very severely at the hands of the Speaker, and its reputation consequently was not that of pure and unadulterated character that will alone quiet the apprehensions and soothe the views of the watchful New York delegation. So when this bill came up again in the Senate on a motion to concur in certain amendments made in the Assembly, Benedict and Tiemann were both ready to pop up one after another and clog its progress. First Tiemann moved to recommit and substitute his own bill, which was, in fact, the original of this one, though no more like it than "I to Hercules."

Senator Woodin, who backed the bill, said the Assembly might have got into a panic when the Speaker of that House came himself on to the floor and demanded the recall of this bill, terming it, as he did then, the most outrageous bill he had ever heard of. It was recalled in obedience to this demand, and from that day to this the Speaker of the Assembly has not uttered a word against it, not thrown a single ray of light upon what he called its darkness. He has never opened his mouth in respect to the bill, which he came down from his seat to denounce as an outrageous and extraordinary measure. He has not even opened his eyes to control his passions. He has not even taken body by its consideration and kindness, and I claim it is due to the integrity of that body that he has not done so.
